

An abstract background featuring a dark, almost black, upper half. From the right side, several bright, white, diagonal light rays or streaks emanate, fanning out towards the left. These rays create a sense of motion and depth. The lower half of the image is a solid, dark gray, providing a stark contrast to the dynamic upper section.

How Life Can Change In An Instant

Everett Marshall & Mathew Marshall

April 19, 2006

April 19, 2006 2:05pm

Not only does your life change.

Decisions that are made by your family.

Sunday, May 14, 2006 – Mothers Day

The new journey begins

What is "SAFETY" to you?

In the fire service we have an initiative that says "Everyone Goes Home" and we still have an average of 100 firefighters that die a year.

Safety is not a tangible thing...It is a way of life because your actions will not only effect yourself but everyone around you.

Questions?

Mathew Marshall

mathew.marshall0511@gmail.com

Everett Marshall

Mbroad@aol.com

www.CEPTInc.com